STUDY FT. WAYNE FORESTRY WORK

Mayor Keller, Councilmen and Park Board President Back From Trip.

Fort Wayne's system of forestry work made a very favorable impression on the majority of the party of city officials who made a trip of inspection to that city Saturday, according to the reports of the returning aldermen, made after their arrival here Sunday evening.

Mayor Fred W. Keller, Richard Elbel, president of the park board, and every member of the city council except Councilman Buschner, made the trip, and all had high praise for their entertainment. Fort Wayne city officials looked after the comfort and pleasure of the local men from the time of their arrival until they started back.

A tour was made of the city of Fort Wayne, during which the work of the park board in carrying out the provisions of the new forestry ordinance was inspected. The ordinance, which is considered a model of efficiency, will probably form the pattern for an ordinance to be drafted by the local board in the near future.

The passage of such an ordinance would entail the expenditure of a considerable amount of money, it is said, as a great deal of clerical and other work is necessary to carry out the plan as outlined in the Fort Wayne document.

WEDDINGS COME FAST

Fifteen Married in Four Years From McHenry-Millhouse Co.

Members of the office force and officers of the McHenry-Millhouse Co., 1702 Franklin st., gave a luncheon Saturday afternoon in the company's office in honor of C. F. Hamann, 1409 S. Main st., whose marriage to Miss Ida May Foreman of Valparaiso took place Saturday evening, and Miss Fay Miller, who will be married to Benjamin Moore of Detroit next Saturday.

The two weddings within a week gives the McHenry-Millhouse quite a reputation as a matrimonial bureau. During the last four years there have been an average of 10 persons working in the offices, and 15 persons have been married while members of the force.

REMARKABLE CASE OF Mrs. HAM

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity.

Shamrock, Mo.—"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had falling, inflammation and congestion, female weakness, pains in both sides, backaches and bearing down pains, was short of memory, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and had neither strength nor energy. There was always a fear and dread in my mind. I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get out again. I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in grave or in an asylum if your medicines had not saved me. But now I can work all day, sleep well at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my house, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost entirely free of the bad symptoms I had before taking your remedies, and all is pleasure and happiness in my home."

Mrs. JOSIE HAM, R. F. D. 1, Box 22, Shamrock, Missouri.

Political Gossip

This is the season for declarations and not a day passes but some eligible and oftentimes non-eligible franchise individual utters either a denial or an announcement. Three heralded presidential candidates, two of them republican and one socialist, declared Sunday, and declared emphatically, that under no circumstances would they enter the 1916 race. One republican announced his willingness to sacrifice personal wishes should his friends insist—he said insist—on his running for office.

Elihu Root is the humble servant to the will of his party. Those who refused honor at the hands of their friends are:

William Hale Thompson, mayor of Chicago.

Justice Hughes of Nebraska.

Eugene V. Debs, Terre Haute, Indiana.

As to Elihu Root, William Howard Taft recently pointed to the eastern resident as the logical choice of the republican party. Mr. Taft mentioned Root in the course of an interview while visiting Chicago. He preferred Root to Lawrence V. Sherman of Illinois, who, at the time was entertaining the Hamilton club and other organizations with campaign speeches "for the rebuilding of the party."

Walter N. Carroll of Minneapolis quotes Mr. Root's opinion: "Of course, if the nomination were offered to me, I should feel it my duty to accept even if it killed me."

Justice Hughes of Nebraska—it seems Nebraska must have some one running for president—has been a staunch person as regards declarations against his candidacy. However, confirmation of the rumor that his name would not appear on the ballot in his home state came with a statement from the secretary of state, C. W. Pool, who ruled that a candidate for president must file acceptance within 10 days after a petition for his candidacy has been filed. Nebraska has the state-wide primary.

Mayor Thompson's name also appeared on the Nebraska proof sheets, but he kicked his hat out of the ring immediately upon receipt of a telegram from Nebraska to the effect that he had been formally and legally entered in opposition to Henry D. Estabrook. "I personally am committed to the candidacy of Senator Sherman of Illinois," said "Big Bill," Sunday.

Said Mr. Debs, five times candidate on the socialist ticket, following information to the effect he had again been chosen by referendum vote: "I have mailed a letter to the national officers of the socialist party announcing that I will decline the nomination."

"There is a variety of reasons, of course," he said, "but I do not care to make a public statement regarding them. No reason, is the best reason."

Debs was nominated for the presidency in 1900, 1904, 1908 and 1912.

Eight of Illinois women to vote for delegates to the national convention—a point which has been at issue in the construing of the existing election laws—may be determined at the special session of the Illinois legislature, Gov. Dene's proclamation provides for consideration of the primary election act and members of the legislature predicted the suffrage issue might precipitate a political wrangle which would keep the session going all winter. Under the existing statute, women in Illinois may vote for all elective officers, not named in the constitution. This would allow them to cast ballots at presidential primaries for convention delegates. Anti-suffrage adherents claim convention delegates should be elected by congressional convention at which women have no representation.

That Senator William E. Borah of Idaho is bidding for the prohibition nomination for president is indicated by the announcement that Borah has come out for prohibition by federal amendment. Borah hoped to be the compromise nominee of the standard republicans. The latter have not encouraged this hope and now it is evident that Borah is maneuvering to secure the prohibition nomination with an idea that he could poll many progressive and republican votes in addition to the prohibitionist following. This would make him a formidable factor in the presidential race.

Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma is the latest name considered in connection with the democratic vice-presidential nomination, according to Washington dispatches. The administration's friends are determined that the second place on the ticket shall be filled by a man with marked progressive tendencies and preferably by a western man. Owen has stood for popular government and has demonstrated political independence on many occasions. He is far enough west to appeal to the western sentiment. He rendered important service to the administration when as a member of the banking and currency committee he handled the federal reserve bill and acted as the president's spokesman in the senate on that measure.

William Kent of California, the one non-partisan independent member of the house, is also being considered, and there has been a suggestion of nominating Sec'y of Agriculture, David C. Houston, nominally of Missouri, Houston is a poor publicity man, however, and would add little to the campaigning forces, so the choice of the three seems to lie now between Owen and Kent.

That a general impression regarding the new state primary law and its stipulations as to candidates' petitions is erroneous, is the statement of Atty. Gen. Evan Stoenberg, who makes clear this point. Regarding the belief that all candidates must file petitions at least 30 days before the primary, he says this is true except in case of candidates for governor, United States senator, president and vice-president. It is required that candidates for these offices file their petitions not fewer than 60 days before the primary. According to this opinion, the lists for governor and United States senator are retained from the middle of January.

NOTRE DAME NEWS

The New Jersey club met last evening and accomplished the usual business of electing officers for the ensuing year. This is the first time that the New Jersey students have formed an organization and the promoters say that it will be the liveliest club at the university. Besides the usual social side the club plans to travel from South Bend to New Jersey in special cars in the future. "Andy" McDonough, the president, is now making plans for a special car for the Christmas trip which will be the first affair of the season. The following officers were elected last night: President, A. L. McDonough of Newark; vice-president, C. U. Foley of Newark; secretary, T. J. Mullin of Newark; treasurer, T. A. Mangin of Newark; sergeant at arms, A. J. Leamon of South Orange; chaplain, P. E. Keenan of Montclair; steward, J. J. Carroll of Paterson; reporter, F. McDermitt of Newark. As most of the students come from Newark, the special car will go to that city, where a banquet will be held before the others leave for their homes.

Senius McManus, the noted author of New York city, will deliver a lecture in Washington hall at 10 o'clock this morning.

Although interhall athletics were conspicuous by their absence yesterday, yet Brownson hallers are still jubilant over their victory last Thursday, which they attribute to their mascot. Last Thursday just before the game, a little fox terrier came to Brother Casimer's athletic store room and has been a conspicuous figure around the "rec" room ever since. The fox, a victor which won the interhall championship is attributed to "six" who takes the place of "Tubby," who was a prominent figure in athletics for over 15 years.

Wilfred Ward in the latest Dublin review devotes several pages to a description of Notre Dame as he saw it the two weeks he spent here last year. He traces the history of the school from the time that the Indians formed a permanent settlement here in 1580, down to the present time. He has not left one detail of description untold and calls the article "An American Catholic University." He marvels at the way in which the university has thrown off the French accent in speaking and says that the university is so completely American that Pere Sorin is now called Father Sorin. Even the words Notre Dame are pronounced as though they were English. Ward traces the history of the school from its humble beginning down to the present time.

TEST RUN A SUCCESS

Ward L. Mack Returns From Chicago After Piloting Car.

Ward L. Mack, N. Shore dr., returned to South Bend Sunday after a trip to Chicago, in which he drove a five-passenger Franklin sedan car on the last leg of a trial trip from New York to Chicago, which started at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. Mr. Mack and Ferdinand J. Hehle, official A. A. observer, left this city at 11:15 o'clock Friday night and arrived in Chicago at 5:00 o'clock Saturday morning.

When the seal on the oil tank was broken in Chicago, it was found that only one gallon and 12 ounces of lubricating oil were used in the journey. The car test is considered a great success on account of the fact that the car was 68 hours on the trip instead of the 52 hours originally planned. The car went 80 miles out of its way in Ohio and 100 miles in Indiana, making it impossible to make the trip on one gallon of oil.

No accidents or unusual occurrences marked the run from South Bend to Chicago. Mr. Mack drove by way of Michigan City.

Persistency

Probably the largest, surely the oldest, of the large advertising agencies of this country has from the outset used as its slogan, "Keeping Everlastingly at It Brings Success."

In its record of achievement this has proven to be more than a mere slogan, or an ideal motto—for it has proven time and time again that persistency, unless born of a policy absolutely insane, will win out over temporary brilliancy every time.

When you make up your mind to advertise, whether it be through the use of display or of the ever-busy little business-getter we call "want-ads," first make certain that you're on the right track, then stick to it.

Ever hear of Herbert Kaufman nowadays? A fair sample. You're on the right track when you advertise in The News-Times.

"A great paper for results."
